Cover - Thanks again to Ernie for the cover. Those of you who attended the Carsington event may recognise the stile that had to be climbed into (and out of) the area. Ernie comments "As you can see a memory of Carsington Pastures and a fleeting thought when in a temporary stationary position - elderly gentleman manages to get halfway over the stone stile on the way to the Start and after the Finish and then had a small problem getting off again - thanks to all those both before and after the Event for offering words of encouragement and helping hands - very much appreciated!"

Notes from EMOA Meeting - 30th June 2025

EMOA Champs Questionnaire - There were a total of 59 responses (39 from men, 20 from women). Of those 55 ran on allocated EM Champs course for their age group; 1 ran a longer course; 3 ran a short one. Of the men 24 were happy with the course allocation; 7 would have preferred a longer course; 8 a short course (which seems to indicate the courses were about right). Of the women 15 were happy with the course allocation; 5 would have preferred a longer course; 0 a shorter one (maybe needs a little more analysis). 13 of the men ran on courses where EM allocation differs from BOF recommendation. Of these 6 were happy with the course allocation; 3 would have preferred a longer course; 4 a shorter one. 7 of the women ran courses where EM allocation differs from BOF recommendation. Of these 5 were happy with the course allocation; 2 would have preferred a longer course; 0 a shorter one. In summary it looks like we have the course combinations about correct for EMOA members. Iain wants to do a little more analysis and talk to a few people so the intention is to provide further feedback at the EMOA AGM.

New EMOA Website - The EMOA website is due for an upgrade which should make it easier to use on a mobile device. John Cooke is just awaiting final information to enable him to create the new site, which will include an updated development plan, section on Junior Squad and a few corrections to the old site.

Financial Secretary Report - A much quieter period generally these last couple of months. Overall membership fees income is just below budgeted levels for the full year. Event levies are low with a £384 shortfall to budget which won't be fully made up by Irchester and Wirksworth. Interest income is £115 higher than budgeted for the year, partly due to the JK profits being held onto temporarily. EMJOS overall has spent (net of income received) £301 more than budgeted but generated £456 extra cake sales and other income to more than offset this. No grants paid to clubs this year or coach development costs incurred and senior talent support only paid to one person so far (with another pending). The payment for the development conference venue was paid earlier than budgeted, expected to be part of the 2025/26 costs. A current bank balance (total of both accounts) of £13K. Discussion took place on some of the items in the budget and likely status for next year. Andy will create a budget for the AGM and circulate to committee in advance.

EMJOS - See report below.

English Orienteering Council - The EOC AGM reported that costs for the teams participating in VHI, SHI, JHI and Interland are increasing (mainly accommodation) and are spread across few members across the English regions. This has meant the rates for EOC across members will be increased. In terms of organising events like JHIs and make them less costly it was suggested hosting an open event later that day to provide dual use of the facilities/helpers, allow travelling adults an opportunity to run and provide more of an atmosphere to cheer on the juniors Fixtures - The League and Urban League fixtures are covered separately in EMEWS.

One change was made during the year to the standing orders (in the constitution changes can be made by Executive Committee to Standing Orders, but changes to constitution must be voted on by AGM). The change is for the Independent Financial Examiner role. The constitution stated the IFE must be from a different club to the Financial Secretary. Now the word preferably has been added to the statement (i.e. the IFE would preferably be from a different club). If we had not made the change we would need to have tried to find a new IFE.

- 15. Any Other Business
- 16. Close of formal meeting followed by open discussion

If anyone has any additional items they want adding to the agenda of the AGM, then please let EMOA Secretary (Mike Gardner) know. If anyone has any proposals to change the constitution let Mike know as well as these need to be circulated in advance. Also, if anyone wants to send apologies please also let Mike know.

EMJOS April to June 2025

Training, events and JROS Camps

Park Hall WMJS 7th June

On one of the wettest and coldest training days for this time of year, 6 juniors joined the West Midland's squad (lead coach for day Kirsten Strain). They practiced staying on the line (corridor limited map), compass setting, contour interpretation and planning the long leg routes in advance. The afternoon was then focused on 'race exercises' - the head to head on legs, gaffling and navigating your own race. We had a new enthusiastic junior join the squad day - welcome Ben (DVO).

Loughborough University 21st June

Sprint training at the university was run by YHJS (Pauline and Pete Tryner), with access help and basemaps from LEI (thanks). 7 exercises in total with a mix of regular sprint course, building/impenetrable barrier only map, sprint relay (gaffled mass start) and artificial barrier courses (no actual barriers though!). Eoin joined the Yorkshire 16s/18s for the day and the other 7 EMJOS juniors trained as a group but joined YHOA for the relay exercises.

Future training and events

The region nominated three athletes to go to JROS camps this summer, however due to injury and not achieving a Championship standard run in the selection races, we will only have Eoin Simpson at Deeside (Findholm, Scotland). Building on some strong race results at top events and selection races in the spring, Eoin will be looking to develop with other talented athletes with the top national JROS coaches.

The next training session is being planned to be 21st September on Cannock Chase, led by Dai Bedwell (DVO) in collaboration with WMJS. Setting up some race and relay preparation for the Junior Inter Regional Champs (JIRCS and Senior Home Internationals using same area of the Lakes,  $27^{th}/28^{th}$  September).

Then plans for a local sessions in East Midlands 18th October, before a joint weekend away with WMJS at the Orienteering Foundation training day 8th November South Wales.

EMJOS have 1 or 2 junior M/W15 who may go to the JROS Hawkshead weekend training (4 Lakeland training areas Saturday &Sunday), crazy YHA nighttime relay and social.

EMJOS will also be hosting a cake stall at the Midland Champs Chinley Churn  $7^{th}$  September.

Please keep signposting the Squad to new junior club level navigators!

Ann-Marie Duckworth EMJOS coach and coordinator

Chinley Churn

Chinley Churn is a prominent gritstone hill between the villages of Chinley and Hayfield in the Peak District. The summit is 457 metres (1,499 ft) above sea level. The hilltop ridge area is designated as open access land, following the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000. The trig pillar on the hill was removed sometime after April 2024 - thought to be by the farmer. The trig pillar at the lower secondary summit further south is on private land.

Craken Edge Quarry (worked from at least 1640 until the 1900s) is designated a Regionally Important Geological Site. This is a large disused stone slate quarry. The quarry forms the dramatic crest of the hill. Through centuries of workings, the scarp edge of Chinley Churn has been dramatically shaped into steps. The main quarry face stretches for 1km and rises to at least 10m at its highest.

Below these sheer quarried rock faces are steps consisting of flat, stone-working areas with large spoil heaps and routeways, with slopes of spoil scree between. This rock is special because it splits beautifully into thin pieces perfect for flags and roof slates.

The History of Cracken Edge Quarry

Since the 14th century, the land around Chinley, or Mainstonefield as it was known, was used as farmland by the Abbey of Merivale.

In 1569, after the Dissolution, this land was divided into 40 portions, each known as a 'neighbourship'. Each of the 'neighbours' then paid 5s 4d in rent. These neighbourships are interesting because they appear to be a system unique to Chinley and formed the template for land use and sale for the next 300 years - they are still referred to in recent land leases!

The quarry...

In 1628, a commission was written laying down the allocation of the neighbourships. Here, we have our first mention of the quarry. The commission includes the 'slate breaks' at Cracken Edge which were attached to the neighbourships. A 'slate break' was an apportionment of the hill crest, giving the owner the right to quarry the stone. Therefore, whilst 1628 is our first known date of the quarry, we can assume it was active before then, making it at least 400 years old!

Cracken's hey day

By the 1700s the region had industrialised and the village of Chinley had grown. The Peak Forest Canal and the Tramway at Buxworth and Chinley were built between 1799 and 1806. In 1867 the railway came to the village. These developments greatly increased the potential for industrial output and export.

The quarry yielded building stone but specialised in the production of paving and roofing slabs. Besides surface extraction, better stone at a greater depth was extracted by underground mining.

In its hey day, Cracken was sending 16,000 tonnes of Cracken stone by train every year! Cracken is a significant part of local history. It was an important resource and employer. Many local men and boys worked there and many of the houses in Chinley have been built, the floors paved and the roofs slated with Cracken Stone.

As concrete became cheap and accessible, the market for quarried slate reduced dramatically. The quarry eventually closed in the 1920s. Whilst no stone has been extracted here for 100 years, the quarry lies virtually unchanged and provides an educational and beautiful place to visit. The evidence of past activity is all around you at Cracken Edge. It is interesting to imagine all the activity and hubbub that must have been here when workers still came to break stone. A significant feature of Cracken Edge is the enormous piles of spoil and massive slabs of tumbled rock face.

Pieces like this show how the stone has been worked by an expert technique of wedging and hammering at the top of the face to prise whole sections of rock away. Quite well preserved on the site are the remains of a winding wheel. It was built in 1901 to make it easier to transport the stone from the hill side to the road. The accompanying railtracks ran right down the slope. You can see the straight channel in the ground leading all the way to the road where the tracks used to be. The wheel was built by Frank and Alfred Kirkham. Unfortunately the wheel proved unsatisfactory because the wagons jumped the tracks and it wasn't used for long.

Lying at the northern end of the quarry are the remains of a crane. This probably dates from the 19th and early 20th century and would have been used for lifting stones to be swung into new positions.

Across the whole quarry are at least 11 small drystone structures. These are quarrymen's huts fashioned from spoil to provide storage and shelter from the often harsh High Peak weather.

There are noticeable 'access routes' leading from the main footpath to the sheer rock face. This is where gaps were intentionally maintained or created in order to provide the quarrymen access to the quarry face. One of the main footpaths between Cracken Edge and Chinley is known as Sandy Lane. It used to be called Lea Lane and for a long time was the only route by which the quarrymen could transport stone. It was a hazardous journey with just a wagon and pony carrying huge amounts of stone down this steep and rocky lane.

A burial barrow (near the site of the now removed modern trig pillar) was reported in 1901 as the resting place of an ancient Celtic chieftain called Taro Trin (the Bull of Conflict), according to tradition.

Puzzle Page

Answer to EMEWS Puzzle 296.

A = Cox family; B = Smith family; C = Wright family; D = Lacey family

The logic works such that:

From statement 1 the Smith family are quarter B or C and the Lacey family are quarter A or D.

From statement 2 the Cox family are quarter A or B and the Wright family are quarter C or D.

From statement 3, quarter D must belong to the Cox or Lacey family. Therefore, the Lacey family have quarter D (Cox family must be quarter A or B). Therefore as Wright family were C or D and Lacey family are D, the Wright family must be C. We now know Smith family are B or C (statement 1) and A or B (statement 4), so they must be B. Which leaves quarter A for the Cox family.

Again this month we can go back to the plantation grid and see how competitors get from the start to the finish. The numbers along the edges of the grid indicate how many sections of the plantation are used in the route (the numbers include the use of start and finish). The route cannot cross itself and only uses a plantation section once. The direction out of the start and into the finish are provided, along with a short section of the route.

Complete the route that gets you from the start to the finish, while meeting the number of plantation sections shown at the top of each column, and row. I'll provide the answer in next EMEWS.

Fixtures

This fixture list is intended to list all major events in the UK, and all East Midlands events. It includes all the information available to me about the event at the time of going to press. Details on entry are normally available on the club sites. Unless otherwise stated, Local events offer entry on the day (EOD) to a range of colour coded courses with start times from 10:30 to 12:30. Some will provide a wider range of courses than others. Regional events provide colour coded within which age classes can be run. National events provide a range of age-related courses and are normally entered in advance.

The OS map reference is either the car park or point from which the event will be signposted. The list is based on BOF registration, but events are sometimes cancelled. If you are uncertain of whether an event will be on, check with the organiser. The editor takes no responsibility for wasted journeys.

Many events are currently pre-entry only, so please check the event details before travelling.
